Can you recycle a paper cup?

We have had so many customers ask us this question, but what is the answer? All paper cups are recyclable but if they have a plastic lining, as most do, it then depends on your waste collection company.

However, we have it on good authority that a totally recyclable paper cup is on its way and you will be able to dispose of these along with your paper recycling.

Watch this space.....This product is imminent and we will be stocking it.

Small changes, big impact

Making small changes now can help the environment in the future. Swapping from plastic to paper straws, using wooden cutlery instead of plastic and changing to products made from eco friendly materials can all make a difference. Get in touch to find out what we can do for you.
